

Your Invitation To
THE DIPLOMATIC FORUM

At

The London Academy of Diplomacy

102, Middlesex Street, City of London, London, E1 7EZ

Dr. Andrew Glencross

Lecturer in International Politics at the University of Stirling

The Politics of Simple Solutions:
The Flawed Logic of a British Referendum on EU Membership"

Theme

This talk queries the assumption that a membership referendum can resolve Britain's relationship with the EU. "Brexit" would be the opposite of a simple solution to the Europe question, while Eurosceptics will remain dissatisfied in the event of a vote to stay in the EU. Although a referendum seemingly offers a simple and decisive solution, the reality is thus rather different.

Date: TUESDAY 28th April, 2015 at 6:00pm

RSVP to RAQUEL BARKER 020 7059 4481 or diplomacy@stir.ac.uk

NETWORKING & Tea/Coffee Reception at 5.30pm on 4th Floor

Profile Dr Andrew Glencross

Andrew Glencross is a lecturer in International Politics at the University of Stirling, United Kingdom. He holds a PhD from the European University Institute (2007) and before that studied at Cambridge University and Harvard University. Prior to joining the University of Stirling, he taught international relations at the University of Pennsylvania and at the University of Aberdeen.

He has published extensively on the interplay of law and politics in the European Union, and on the development of European integration more generally, in journals such as Government and Opposition, International Theory, Journal of Common Market Studies, Journal of European Integration, Journal of European Public Policy, Orbis: A Journal of World Affairs, Political Studies, and West European Politics. His most recent book is The Politics of European Integration: Political Union or a House Divided? (Wiley 2014).

